CLC World Travel Member Benefits

As a member, when you book any type of cruise you will benefit from the fantastic rates we have negotiated on your behalf. CLC World Travel works with all the major cruise lines and many of the more specialised operators, offering you the very best prices and the widest choice.

So let our experts guide you to your next voyage!

On a ship, you can reach places and have experiences that are otherwise simply not possible. Experience the thrill of transiting the Panama Canal, a piece of engineering genius, or of taking a waterborne foray deep into the Amazon. Get up close and personal with the iguanas and blue-footed boobies in the amazing Galapagos Islands, or sail around the notoriously wild and windy Cape Horn as you head for the ultimate cruise adventure - the icy expanse of Antarctica to spot whales and penguins.

On a cruise ship, you can island-hop around Hawaii, or explore the Greek islands, or huddle under a rug on deck, watching the Northern Lights dance across the Norwegian sky. Marvel at the vast wilderness of Alaska’s Inside Passage and watch in awe in Glacier Bay, as blue-white ice calves off the mighty glaciers and crashes into the glassy water with a deafening crack.

A cruise is a reason to celebrate. Party twice over as you cross the International Date Line on New Year’s Eve, or toast a special anniversary with the finest champagne at the Captain’s table. Honeymoon in the gorgeous islands of the South Pacific. If you’re feeling impetuous, you can even get married at sea first! And for the ultimate voyage, splash out and treat yourself to the magic of an entire world cruise, circling the globe in elegance and style.

The traveller’s palette
From art and antiquities to vibrant Versace, past verdant volcanoes to islands of spice or rivers of ice and then on to cultural capitals or sandy shores.

Caribbean & Bahamas
A cruise around the islands of the Caribbean offers great variety, from small, sleepy ports with gingerbread houses and exquisite beaches, to lively destinations famous for their duty-free jewellery, precious stones and electronics.

There are numerous colonial influences, from pretty Barbados, once part of the British Empire, to the designer shops and boulangeries of Guadeloupe and Martinique, both of which still belong to France.

Everywhere you go, the locals will speak their own patois mixed with either French, English or even, in St Maarten, Dutch.

These are all superb destinations for an active cruise, with every water sport imaginable on offer as well as some fantastic hikes, from gentle nature walks through the rainforest to tough mountain trails. You’ll never be far from a gorgeous beach, especially in the Bahamas, or a cheerful rum shack conjuring up the holiday spirit with the infectious beat of reggae.

East Coast USA, Canada & Bermuda
The east coast of North America is one of the most spectacular cruising areas on earth in autumn, when the trees turn into a blaze of scarlet and gold. Combine this with smart holiday resorts, sophisticated cities, great shopping and wonderful cuisine (who can resist Maine lobster?) and you’ll have an unusual and exciting cruise.

East coast ports are also the starting point for cruises to beautiful, balmy Bermuda, a tiny slice of England basking in the Atlantic Ocean. Here, you’ll find candy-coloured houses, flower-filled gardens, pink sand beaches, world-class golf courses and marinas packed with sleek mega-yachts. Bermuda is an island of privilege and wealth, as well as being packed with English colonial history, and most cruises overnight here so you can really explore in depth.
Cruising is the palette upon which all the exciting sights, sounds and colours of travel are mixed. Like no other holiday, your cruise can take in countries, continents or even circle the world within one trip! Your dreams really can come true. Just imagine...

Culture-lovers will be in their element on a Baltic cruise, which includes one fascinating city after another, all completely different. Stroll the Stroget shopping street in Copenhagen and listen to summer jazz in the Tivoli Gardens, or take a cruise around the Stockholm archipelago. Tallinn is like something out of a medieval fairytale, although the jewel in the crown is St. Petersburg, with its fantastic art collections, churches and palaces.

Cruises to Norway make their way slowly up the breathtaking west coast, exploring the fjords, fishing and trading towns and the dazzling landscapes. The further north, the longer the summer evenings until you finally reach the ‘land of the midnight sun’, where the sun skims the horizon at midnight and champagne corks pop on deck in celebration.

Mexico has two coasts, the Pacific and the Caribbean, both wonderful cruise destinations and both offering their own opportunities to explore the soft sandy beaches, colourful culture and magnificent antiquities left by ancient civilisations. The whole of Central America, in fact, is perfect for cruising, offering the ideal mix of culture, adventure and chilling out on the beach, whether it’s trekking in eco-friendly Belize, diving in Honduras or exploring mysterious ruins in Guatemala.

The ultimate Central American cruise adventure for many, however, is the transit of the Panama Canal, one of the most amazing sights of the modern world. You’ll spend all day on deck, marvelling at this miracle of engineering as well as soaking up the wonderful scenery.

Norwegian Fjords, Scandinavia & The Baltic Capitals

Mexico & Central America
The traveller’s palette

Australasia

Australia and New Zealand are becoming increasingly popular cruising destinations, with more and more cruise lines basing ships in this part of the world. Cruises usually take in the spectacular Great Barrier Reef and the cities of the east coast, including Sydney, one of the most beautiful of them all. New Zealand, in contrast, is wilder and more remote, with majestic fjords and sleepy country towns, as well as some wild and dramatic scenery.

Often, Australasia cruises also take in some of the luscious Pacific islands, with aquamarine lagoons, jungle-clad mountains and silver beaches lined with swaying palms, making for a wonderful series of contrasts in a single voyage.

Alaska & Hawaii

A voyage to Alaska is a journey into one of the last great wildernesses on earth, with abundant wildlife, fascinating culture and scenery of breathtaking beauty, from densely forested mountains to massive, blue-white glaciers. These cruises are perfect for lovers of the outdoors, with a huge range of excursions from sea kayaking to salmon fishing, ‘flightseeing’ on a float plane and hiking.

Some Alaska cruises can be combined with Hawaii, creating a spectacular contrast of ice and fire, taking you on a journey from year-round snow cover to volcanoes spitting molten lava, lush rainforest and a sensual, vibrant culture.

Mediterranean & Canary Islands

The whole Mediterranean region is steeped in history, with a great variety of vibrant cultures and cuisines - and some of the world’s best shopping! A cruise is the perfect way to explore, taking in several countries in one voyage, mixing medieval ports with gorgeous beaches, and visiting places that are on everybody’s ‘must-see’ list, whether it’s the Acropolis in Athens or the amazing remains at Pompeii in Naples.

Have a flutter in the casino in Monte Carlo, or bargain for carpets in the souks of Istanbul. Shop for hand-made jewellery in the whitewashed streets of Mykonos, or take a day trip up Sicily’s Mount Etna. Chill out on a Greek beach, or soak up the atmosphere of Palma’s Gothic Quarter on a hot summer’s night.

The Canary Islands, part of Spain but closer to Africa, are another great cruising location, for their lively resorts, superb sandy beaches, volcanic scenery and most of all, year-round sunshine.

Middle East & Indian Ocean

The Middle East is the most recent part of the world to embrace cruising, with ships exploring the Gulf for shopping in Dubai, desert safaris in Abu Dhabi, history and culture in beautiful Oman, as well as endless sandy beaches, superb scuba diving and bathing in the warm waters of the Indian Ocean. Some venture into the Red Sea, calling at luxury holiday resorts like Sharm el Sheikh, or ports on the Egyptian coast, from where day trips to Luxor and the Nile are arranged.

For the ultimate cultural experience choose a Holy Land itinerary, where history has shaped the world in which we live today.
There's nowhere quite as evocative as the Nile, a ribbon of green snaking through the vast, empty desert, rich with history, and a cruise is the best way to explore this fascinating region. Spend your days lazing on the sun deck, watching life on the riverbanks drift by, and explore the amazing antiquities at dawn and dusk, when the heat of the day is less intense. A Nile cruise usually includes the pretty town of Aswan, with its impressive High Dam and beautiful temples, as well as Luxor, location of the famous Karnak Temple and the Valley of the Kings and various other incredible sights in between. Most of the shore excursions are included on a Nile cruise, but for an extra treat, why not book a sunrise hot air balloon flight over Luxor, or take a side trip south to the awe-inspiring Temple of Abu Simbel?

A long voyage – maybe a world cruise, a sector of a world cruise, or a so-called ‘Grand Circle’ voyage – is the trip of a lifetime. There’s an air of festivity on board and the ship soon begins to feel like home as you sail at a pleasingly slow pace around whole continents and across oceans. Friendships are formed and the holiday becomes a voyage of discovery as Europe merges into the Indian Ocean, Asia, Australia and the Pacific.

Long voyages may encircle the whole world, or start in, say, Southampton and sail east around the globe, ending in New York. Cruises like this tend to offer a packed programme of activities as there are often four or five sea days in a row. There’s a great deal of choice and new, more unusual ports are added every year to the many itineraries.

Six days to commune with the ocean, looking for whales and dolphins, losing yourself in a good book or escaping completely from everyday life – the transatlantic voyage is a special kind of cruise. You’ll soon get into the rhythm of life on board, trying out the different classes, going to lectures, indulging in spa treatments or just relaxing with new-found friends. Evenings are always a big occasion, with high quality dining, spectacular shows, dancing, plenty of excitement in the casino and later, a stroll on deck to gaze at the stars as the ship steams an amazing 3,000 miles from one continent to another. This is a voyage every keen cruiser should aspire to!

Some of the world’s most exciting and exotic destinations are ideally suited to cruising. A voyage around the Far East, for example, might take in Malaysia, Singapore, Bangkok and Phuket, or the exquisite island of Bali. Ships call at thrilling Hong Kong and increasingly, Chinese ports and areas of Japan, Taiwan and South Korea, presenting a whole range of cultures in one voyage.

South America is another wonderfully exotic cruise location and a great place to soak up winter sun in exciting, vibrant cities such as Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro. Ships also explore the Chilean fjords and head right down to the tip of the continent, the jumping off point for the ultimate shore excursion – a private flight over Antarctica.
CLC World Travel can arrange cruises to suit all tastes and budgets, and in our experience, the variety is extensive! One of the first choices to make is the size of ship. A small to mid-size ship is more intimate but offers fewer on-board activities. A large ship, on the other hand, is a floating resort, with more than you can begin to imagine, offering everything from ice skating and glittering theatrical productions to zip lining and ten-pin bowling.

There is always the option of combining your cruise with a stay at a CLC World resort. Take a Caribbean cruise from Florida before or after a stay at CLC Encantada, or cruise the Mediterranean from Spain and spend a week on the Costa del Sol at CLC Club La Costa World! Alternatively, you could simply extend your stay in any location using CLC World of Hotels for your reservations.

Our experts will also be able to advise you on all aspects of cruising, including the type of stateroom to choose. If you’re on a budget and likely to be basking in the sun on deck all day, an inside stateroom might suffice – some now even come with virtual balconies! When visiting places of great scenic beauty, for more privacy or just to enjoy extra space, we recommend a balcony stateroom. For larger budgets, why not treat yourself to the ultimate in luxury – to be found in a suite!

We will also find you a cruise of the duration you want, ranging from a two-day mini-cruise to a three-month round the world voyage. In between these extremes, there are thousands of cruises for one to two weeks, and many more of 20, 30 or 40 days. This is one of the beauties of cruising: it’s extremely flexible, the choice is vast and – one of the great benefits of CLC World membership – it opens up a whole new world of opportunity for exciting travel experiences.

You’ll find a vast range of cruising experiences in this brochure but that by no means limits your choice. If you fancy a cruise that’s not featured, just visit www.clcworldtravel.co.uk or call CLC World Travel and they will arrange it for you, whether you want an expedition to Antarctica or a sun-drenched voyage around the Indian Ocean.

IT’S NOT EVERY DAY YOU DINE ON REAL GRASS IN THE MIDDLE OF THE OCEAN. UNTIL NOW.
MODERN LUXURY LIVES HERE.

CANYON RANCH SPA CLUB®

AN ENTIRE BAR MADE OF ICE? NOW THAT’S A REFRESHING TWIST. MODERN LUXURY LIVES HERE.

REJUVENATING ‘ME TIME’, ANYTIME

SPECIALITY DINING BEYOND THE OBVIOUS. MODERN LUXURY COMES IN MANY FLAVOURS.
One of the most appealing aspects of a cruise is that the price includes almost everything. In most cases, cruises are essentially like staying at a floating hotel or resort where not only is your accommodation included but also your meals and snacks, tea and coffee, use of the gym and other facilities and entertainment on board the ship. Some ships include all the gratuities, while others offer the opportunity to pre-pay gratuities or will make suggestions as to how much to tip. A handful even include all alcoholic drinks. The biggest extra costs are shore excursions and spa treatments, which can be booked in advance with some cruise lines, making planning even easier.

A modern cruise ship is like a small city, with everything you could need on board. Almost all ships have more than one restaurant, usually a casual buffet option in addition to the main dining room, as well as ‘speciality’ dining, which could mean anything from a sushi bar or a gourmet French restaurant, to a steak house or an Italian trattoria where you normally need to pay a cover charge. Some ships have as many as 21 dining options, and many boast restaurants run by celebrity or famous chefs.

Most cruise ships have spectacular spas, offering wonderfully pampering treatments, lavish sauna suites, relaxation rooms overlooking the ocean, treatments for singles and treatments for couples. There will almost always be a gym with state-of-the-art equipment and classes. Larger ships have multi-sports courts on deck too, for paddle tennis and basketball, along with ice skating rinks, rock climbing walls, surf simulators, aqua parks and even gardens. And these activities need to be fitted in among the fascinating enrichment programmes offered by many cruise lines, which might include anything from watercolour lessons to Cordon Bleu demonstrations.

When the sun sets, the evening entertainment begins, and this is where ships really excel themselves. You’ll find glittering Broadway musicals, top stand-up comedians, high-tech nightclubs, chic Martini and Champagne bars, stylish cigar clubs, sports bars and English pubs. You name it, a ship somewhere will offer it!
If you like to dine alone, be sure to choose a stateroom that's spacious enough. All staterooms are cleverly arranged but a mini-suite or junior suite should have a separate dining area. On a long cruise, private in-suite dinner can be wonderfully decadent and on a five-star ship, your waiter will bring every course individually to the stateroom.

The balcony is an important factor for many cruisers. Once you’ve had a private balcony, you’ll never go back, as there’s nothing quite like it for the peace and privacy, watching the scenery drift by, or enjoying the morning sun as you tuck into room service breakfast. Modern ships have a much higher proportion of balcony staterooms, with some even overlooking parkland in the middle of the ship.

Are you celebrating a special event? Or travelling as a large family group? In that case, why not upgrade to a suite? In some cases, it’s even economical. Accommodation ranges from mini-suites to lavish presidential offerings, with a grand piano in the living area, a butler, a private bar and a hot tub on the private balcony. There are no limits, even on a ship! You can choose spa suites, suites with a butler, single suites, family suites and, on some cruise lines, you can even have a ‘ship within a ship’ with private areas for suite guests.

Some cruise lines offer wonderful perks like a private butler for certain cabin grades, who will pamper you with welcome drinks, unpack for you, deliver afternoon canapés, place chocolates on your pillow and, on a more practical level, make reservations for the ship’s more exclusive restaurants, and for shore excursions.

Remember that you can choose your stateroom at the time of booking. Think about distance from the lifts and proximity to the disco or restaurant and possible noise levels. You might even want to be really smart and consider the ship’s itinerary – sailing out of Venice, for example, a port side stateroom gives you the best view you’ll ever have of the city! And finally, book early, as the prime spots in each stateroom grade go fast!

Fred. Olsen has spent over 150 years making cruising special. Their four stunning ships are big enough for all the facilities you need, yet sufficiently small for you to feel special and completely at ease. They sail to destinations worldwide, with durations from 2-3 night mini cruises to epic voyages of over 100 nights. From the moment you embark, friendly, courteous staff are there to make your cruise memorable. With generous open deck space, light and airy public rooms, comfortable well-equipped cabins and excellent facilities, the ambience is relaxed and similar to that of a country house hotel. There’s plenty to do on board, including traditional activities in and around the pools, or lazing in a Jacuzzi. Active guests can work out in the gym, with a luxurious spa treatment perhaps to follow. Dining options include al fresco snacks on deck and à la carte restaurants. And as day becomes night, there’s a venue to match every mood. If it’s your first Fred. Olsen cruise, expect to enjoy a style of cruising where it truly is “all about the people”.

Azamara Club Cruises® call it Destination Immersion®, and what it means to you is longer stays, more overnights, and night touring in their ports of call. With Azamara’s signature Land Discoveries® shore excursions, featuring their new Insider AccessSM and Nights and Cool PlacesSM tours, they provide a unique, behind-the-scenes look into the culture and nightlife of many remarkable destinations. To further immerse you, Azamara also offer everyone onboard a complimentary AzAmazing EveningsSM event (on most voyages): an authentic, exclusive, bespoke event that lets you experience the local culture beyond the ordinary and in ways you would not be able to do on your own; hence, the name.

Of course, while the destinations are the highlight, there is something to be said about the Azamara Journey and Azamara Quest, their two award-winning ships. MSC Cruises

With more ships in the region than anyone else, MSC Cruises is the Med’s number one cruise line offering 5-12 day cruises there all year round. Seasonal itineraries are also available in the Caribbean, northern Europe, South America, South Africa, the Canary Islands and Morocco and the United Arab Emirates.

MSC offers great food, fun activities for all the family and the quality and comfort of a 5-star hotel, all at a great price. With five different Kids Clubs, the MSC Aurea Spa, a 4D cinema, Broadway-style theatre, swimming pools, bars, lounges and live music the list of entertainment is endless. So whether it’s shopping, fitness, music or fine dining that you are looking for there is definitely something that will more than fit the bill.

With the addition of MSC Preziosa in 2013, MSC Cruises now has a fleet of twelve state-of-the-art ships divided into three classes: Fantasia class, Musica class and Lirica class. There are also four more mega-ships on order, which will take the fleet up to sixteen ships by 2019.

The Fantasia class ships are grand, impressive and family-friendly while the Musica class ships offer a more sophisticated, diverse experience. The Lirica class offers a boutique cruising experience on newly-renovated ships, with up to two hundred new balcony cabins, more entertainment options and more shops being added as part of a €200million ‘Renaissance Programme’ due to be completed by November 2015.

When it comes to dining, MSC have got all bases covered. With over 140 different recipes served on board every day, fine dining and excellent service in the main restaurants, casual dining in buffets and the chance to sample some of the speciality restaurants, there really is something to suit every taste on an MSC cruise. Special dietary requirements including gluten free, vegetarian and kosher are also catered for.

Eleven million guests have already enjoyed an MSC Cruise so why don’t you?
Discover Egypt

Discover Egypt, a highly respected specialist for Egypt and Jordan, offers a range of Nile cruises on six boats, including the popular Royal Viking with 68 spacious outside cabins over three decks, a restaurant, bar, a large sun deck and a plunge pool.

River cruises offer a slower, gentler cruising pace and the Nile, a vibrant green strip across an infinite desert, is one of the best rivers for simply watching as life drifts by. Along the riverbanks, you’ll pass water meadows, fishermen, children playing and tiny, sun-baked villages. Nights are spent moored alongside other boats, while early starts take in the magnificent temples before temperatures soar. Life aboard is relaxed and informal, with Egyptian and international cuisine served in the restaurant. Qualified Egyptologists escort the excursions, while there are lighter moments, like the weekly Egyptian fancy dress party! All the major excursions are included in your Discover Egypt cruise.

Cruise & Maritime Voyages

Cruise & Maritime Voyages

2016 heralds our seventh, but no less exciting, year of operating no-fly cruises from the UK with the news that we are expanding our fleet of smaller, more intimate cruise liners to five. Columbus, with 775 passenger cabins including 64 deluxe balcony cabins and junior suites, will line-up alongside Magellan, Marco Polo, Astoria and Astor — all of whom offer a leisurely and traditional country house style of cruising with the emphasis on personal service and going that extra mile. Cruise & Maritime Voyages specialise in traditional, no-fly cruises with attentive personal service and are one of Britain’s few remaining independently owned cruise lines.

When you sail with Cruise & Maritime Voyages, we guarantee you adults-only cruising on smaller, more intimate ships for a leisurely ‘home from home’ ambience. There is a wide range of daytime activities programmes including arts and crafts and featuring informative guest speakers and by night you can sit back and enjoy stylish entertainment and cabarets. Enjoy delicious full board cuisine with afternoon tea, lat night snacks and Captain’s warm welcome and fond farewell cocktail parties. And for any of those extras you want to participate in, the onboard currency is in sterling.

The introduction of Columbus to our fleet has enabled us to offer more cruises than ever before and to expand our UK ports to eleven to include sailings from Newport, Cardiff and Belfast.

In addition to this, we are able to offer new and inspirational itineraries which include: a Round the World cruise, cruises to Australia and New Zealand, a brand new Cuba Central America and Caribbean cruise and an Arctic Greenland, Iceland & Faroes cruise.
Cruising can be something of a mystery if you’ve never tried it before. But with a bit of insider knowledge, you can choose the right ship to match your tastes and leave your worries on the quayside.

What do I have to pay for on board?
The great thing about cruises is that they are very easy to budget for and represent great value when you consider the travel, accommodation and superb food. Your meals, some soft beverages and entertainments are usually all included, gratuities too if you choose, so all you have to think about is paying for your alcoholic drinks (many cruise lines offer pre-bookable drinks packages), excursions and special ‘extras’ such as spa and beauty treatments.

Can I book my own flights?
Yes, but if you choose to do this please remember that it is your responsibility to make your own way to and from the ship at the end of your cruise. The ship will sail without you if you are not there on time and we would recommend, therefore, that you fly in a day early and overnight in a hotel to avoid disappointment. Your cruise consultant will be able to recommend a suitable hotel.

What is the average age on a cruise ship?
This is a difficult question to answer, as many ships offer a broad range of activities aimed at all ages, some very family orientated. However, some cruise lines aim at a particular age group and this is reflected in the on-board entertainment, types of excursions offered etc. The itinerary also plays a part; for example, longer cruises predominately attract a more mature clientele. CLC World Travel’s expert team will be able to advise as to the right cruise line and ship to suit you and your needs.

Will I be bored?
Highly unlikely. A modern ship is a floating resort, with at the very least a spa, gym, Internet centre, casino, movies, theatre productions, a choice of pools and numerous bars. Generally speaking, most of the time will be spent in port, particularly in Europe and the Caribbean. On the long ocean crossings, cruise lines offer ‘enrichment’ lectures and courses to fill the days – anything from cookery to yoga to website design. Cruise ship shore excursions too, have evolved from traditional coach tours to more imaginative offerings, including kayaking, mountain biking, hiking, wine-tasting, cookery demonstrations, scuba diving, helicopter tours and beach barbecues.

Do I have to sit at the same table every night?
Some cruise ships will assign all passengers with a table and a sitting for dinner, early (6-ish) or late (8.30 to 9pm). Some people feel uneasy about this but it does seem to work and most passengers make new friends. If you want a table for two, request it early, as these are few and far between. If you’re cruising alone, ask for a big table, by nature the liveliest. If you are really unhappy with the people you are with, a discreet word with the maitre d’ should result in a new table. People do this all the time and it’s perfectly acceptable to ask.

The trend for large cruise ship dining is flexibility, open dining, choice of complimentary restaurants and, of course, cover-charge restaurants. Some cruise ships have even removed their main dining rooms!

Do I have to dress up?
This really depends upon which cruise line you choose – some are very formal, and some very casual! Even when the usual three evening dress codes – ‘formal’, ‘informal’ and ‘casual’ are stated – not everyone follows them! Most cruise lines specify their dress code and, on more formal cruises, these should be adhered to!
